Planning & Highways

Cllr. Melvyn Simmons (Chairman) Cllr Lynda Duhigg (Vice Chairman) Cllr. Daryll Brindley, Cllr Sue Griffiths, Cllr Alan Milliner, Cllr Claude Cheta, Cllr Jackie Harrison-Hicks and Cllr Job Harris.

We encourage residents to attend the committee meetings to voice their opinions at public question time at the beginning of each meeting on planning applications. Resident's views are very important to the future of Peacehaven.

Planning applications received from Lewes District Council are carefully considered incorporating local resident's views with respect for Peacehaven but the committee is only advisory on applications received before being submitted back to Lewes District Council for consideration as to whether the planning applications are for refusal or approval.

In the past year we have had problems receiving enough information on planning applications for us to make informed decisions, this has now been rectified and it is useful to read environmental assessments along with other considerations. Lewes District Council have started to create more policies relating to new builds that look to the future such as cycle storage and charging points for electric cars but there are many more policies that could be considered to future proof new buildings.

Peacehaven has been changing dramatically over the years, welcoming new friends and residents to enjoy living and working in a beautiful Sussex coastal town.

New housing developments and redevelopment of existing properties is changing the landscape for the future needs of residents.

The A259 coast road improvement through Peacehaven is well overdue.

Some original development properties sited on large pieces of land once sold and planning permission granted are being redeveloped into flats, 2-3 bedroom properties and retirement apartments.

The site where once stood Peacehaven Police Station has seen redevelopment. The company Churchill has built retirement apartment's at the corner of A259 and Sutton Avenue.

The Lower Hoddern Farm Planning Application was approved by Lewes District Council although Peacehaven Town Council Planning and Highways committee and numerous residents after surveys and a public meeting recommended refusal due to lack of infrastructure, schools and doctors.

The building of Chalkers Rise (Lower Hoddern Farm) development is under way and the extra traffic on Pelham Rise and local areas are causing problems to local residents with each complaint being addressed as situations arise.

Homes are important for everyone but without improved infrastructure in the locality for shopping, dining experience and other services Peacehaven at the present will not meet the growing needs of residents.

Peacehaven Town Council Planning and Highways Committee will continue to work for the best interest of Peacehaven.

Leisure & Amenities

The Council own, manage and maintain several children's play areas, recreational parks and sports facilities across the town. Centenary Park, Piddinghoe Avenue, opened in March 2015 as an exciting new destination park, delivered in partnership with the Big Parks Project and has on-site provision of a café, bespoke playgrounds, skatepark, sport facilities, cycle and walking paths, making this a unique park attracting visitors from around the area and is a gateway into the South Downs National Park. The existing sports facilities were modernised to create a multi-use games area with floodlighting for tennis, netball and football, along with several other football pitches available. All of our sports facilities and recreational parks are available to hire. Please contact us for details.

Cllr. Dave Neave (Chair of the Committee) will be available at the Annual Town Meeting to answer any pre-registered questions you have regarding any Leisure & Amenities issues.

Food Bank

Aside from accepting donations such as baked beans and soup, what else is there to know about the organisations that provide emergency relief to people in crisis?

Food banks provide more than just food:

Many food banks are able to provide essentials such as toiletries, sanitary products, nappies and pet food. Although they are always grateful to accept food items, why not think outside the box and donate some toothpaste, deodorant and shower gel? They can go a long way in helping somebody to feel better about themselves when they are experiencing a crisis.

Poverty affects your health

Mental and physical health is closely associated with poverty, with more than a quarter of adults in the poorest fifth of the population experiencing depression and anxiety. The stress of coping with the effects of poverty can certainly be detrimental to health. In reverse, those with poor physical or mental health are more likely to be affected by low income or income loss, therefore increasing the likelihood that they will need to depend on a food bank.

Food banks offer important signposting services

Whilst food banks do provide a three day emergency food parcel, many food banks also provide vital signposting services for people facing poverty. For example, volunteers can give out information on finding emergency financial advice, welfare support, and community groups, suggestions for other charities and support services and budget cookery courses. Sadly, social isolation often goes hand in hand with food poverty, and a warm welcome and non-judgmental conversation with a food bank volunteer can go a long way for somebody who is facing a crisis.

Food bank use is the last resort for most people

As if the decision to visit a food bank wasn't traumatic enough, people often experience a huge amount of stigma when they are facing a financial crisis. A Child Poverty Action Group report shows that people accepting help from a food bank felt that it was 'shameful' and 'embarrassing,' and that they had been driven to the food bank after exhausting all other possible avenues of support.

It's really easy to support your local food bank.

Whether you choose to volunteer, donate money, food or toiletry items, supporting your local food bank is simple. If you're unsure what to donate, it's best to check with your local food bank to see what they need. Don't be shy, get in touch and see how you can help!

Supporting food banks is therefore a straightforward way to positively impact your local community and help the most vulnerable people in society. You could make a real difference by donating some food items or volunteering. Who knows, you might even change somebody's life.

Peacehaven Youth Mayor

During my term as Youth Mayor it has created a starting process with the youth, allowing for a constructive and open voice in the community.

It has also been a year of ground laying between the council and the young people as a joint effort to support improving our town through a relationship of mutual respect and positive collaboration. This is shown through various initiatives such as the gala dinner where we aimed to create a dialogue that was continued.

Across the year we pursued the dialogue with several key stake holders including, the High sheriff, The Chamber of Commerce, Lewes District councillors, and the Duke and Duchess of Sussex. Thus, as a personal achievement it taught me the political attributes that make a well-formed leader as well as opportunities that have affected my view on the government and our position in society i.e. elected Deputy Youth Parliament Representative for Eastbourne and Coastal Constituency. In addition, this exciting experience had a transformative effect on my growth and development as a future leader and preparedness to serve my town and society.

Honourable councillors if I have one message to convey, it is that the youth is the future and their meaningful involvement in the decision-making process is key to support the council in the creation of a healthy town. For all these reasons I count on you to keep the platform of the Youth Mayor continued and the intergenerational dialogue alive.

The Mayor Of Peacehaven

First of all I would like to thank residents who have supported my chosen fundraising project. I am pleased to report that I raised enough money to fund a portable ECG machine, for home visits, for the Meridian Anchor Surgery and Rowe Avenue Surgery. A cheque to each surgery will be sent when my term of office is complete.

I must be honest and report that it's been a most unusual year for me; I hadn't expected to be elected as Mayor for the Town but I hope that I have supported and served the town to my best ability. I have enjoyed the role and must commend my Deputy Mayor, Cllr. Job Harris, when he has covered some engagements on my behalf, when I've not been able to attend due to prior engagements.

Peacehaven is rapidly changing with shop closures and various new housing in progress. Our town still remains a wonderful place to live; your ward councillors are available to help with any questions you have which relate to the town. You'll find their contact details within this annual report or via our monthly e-news magazine which you can subscribe to via the PTC website.

In June 2018 I hosted a fashion show in the main hall of community house which proved to be a successful evening. The town's community summer fair is always well attended bringing at least 4,000 visitors from Peacehaven and other areas to enjoy the stalls, fun fair & a car boot sale. It's great to see such a great community spirit.

Not really knowing what to expect when attending two wrestling events in my term I was surprised that the shows proved to be very entertaining. I am so glad I was unable to get into the ring!

Peacehaven was delighted when the Duke & Duchess of Sussex made a quick visit in October 2018; I was extremely privileged to be presented. Fatma Bacha our Youth Mayor and Harvey Browning, Deputy Youth Mayor were also involved in the day's proceedings.

Our councillor's agreed to buy a six foot 'Tommy' to support the 'There but not There' campaign in collaboration with the Royal British Legion. The statue has been fixed permanently to our war memorial at Meridian Park.

During the Christmas period I was fortunate to be invited to many functions. One which stands out in particular is the production of Grease performed by the drama students at Peacehaven Secondary School. Their acting ability was tremendous.

The Town's Christmas market attracted many more visitors than last year. The council was given permission to have stalls in the Meridian Centre and PTC used all rooms in Community House to make the event bigger. Father Christmas had many young children queue to see him, the waiting area was organised by NSPCC representative Dawn Paul.

Cllr. Job Harris supported Commonwealth Day, marking the 70th Anniversary of the London Declaration. The event took place at the war memorial with our local clergy on Monday 11th March.

I would like to thank the Officers at Peacehaven Town Council for their support throughout the year, to my fellow councillors and to all local residents. I hope you will continue to support the varied events Peacehaven Town Council has to offer.
